Rick Colello

Rick is one of the most interesting people I know. First he is extremely funny. In addition, he is athletic and quick with numbers. He also likes to say "Go Snicks!" because Snickers is our dog's name. Although you might think he is a know-it-all, it's worth giving him a chance.

You can call my dad average because he is 5ft. and 9 in. and he is 185 lbs. He can be very strict at times and fun at other times. Like most people, he loves pizza and most of the time he will smell like my dog because my dog enjoys wrestling him. His hands are pretty rough too, because he works on his bench press every-other-day. You can recognize him by his black hair and brown eyes.

My dad is kind of a clean freak, we usually clean the whole entire house every week. His office is always in shape and he works on two computers at once. He has a hard job. He is a sales director for Packsize, a packaging company. You will never find my dad's shirt untucked. His hair is always combed to perfection; however I barely get to see him, because he travels all the time due to work.

My dad has taught me numerous things, including how to use windows network, how to tame a fire, and to never use gasoline to start one. He is very important to me, because if I didn't have him I wouldn't have as good a life as I do now.
